Mountain Secure Systems Receives Lockheed Martin 2010 Small Business of the Year Award

Longmont, Colorado – Mountain Secure Systems (MSS), a service-disabled, veteran-owned small business (SDVOSB) and leading supplier of rugged electronics and wireless network solutions to the defense industry, announced today that it received the Lockheed Martin Missiles and Fire Control 2010 Small Business of the Year Award. MSS was honored on May 4, 2011 at Lockheed Martin’s Small Business Awards ceremony in Orlando, FL. MSS was recognized for its commitment to customer service, quality and timely performance.

“Mountain Secure Systems is honored to be the recipient of the Lockheed Martin Missiles and Fire Control 2010 Small Business of the Year Award,” said Ken Dickson, General Manager of Mountain Secure Systems. “Quality products and excellent customer service is what separates Mountain Secure Systems from the pack when it comes to ruggedizing critical electronics for the aerospace and defense industry.”
